CORONA
The Personal Writing MachineFIRST OF SERIES OF BOXING
BOUNTS STAGED BY AMERICAN LEGION

The Labor Day boxing bout was called promptly at 8:30 Monday evening. The first preliminary consisted of P. J. (Yankee) Sullivan and Joe Humphrey. The latter lacked considerable size and took an over amount of punishment from Sullivan who from the crowd's viewpoint had him outclassed and gained the decision. The second preliminary between Duke DeVoi and Blondy Springer proved to be very interesting and entertaining as they both showed considerable speed and mixed fiercely throughout the bout. The decision went to Springer, a North Platte boy, who has been in training for three months. The main ten round bout between Roy Malone and Harold Garrison was a good snappy match. They were both exchanging blows rather effectively from the first round. Most of the applause was for Garrison, presumably owing to the fact that Malone had him shaded somewhat. 1st round, even; 2nd round, Malone by a shade; 3rd round, even; 4th round, Garrison's; the remainder of the ten rounds were Malone's.

The whole program seemed to be appreciated by the large crowd that attended. This is the first of a series of bouts to be staged by the American Legion during the winter months.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Fisher yesterday. All concerned are doing nicely.
